

Remote Guarding - Guard Tasks Executed Remotely

Traditional on-site guarding functions can now be performed remotely. Efficient security programs become a success when intrusion systems, video cameras, monitoring centers and on-site security officers work together as one integrated force. Potential threats are detected by alarm systems or spotted by cameras. Operators in the Security Operation Center will analyze and take corrective actions based on predefined criteria. The existing security systems can also be used to perform typical guard tasks remotely. Securitas continuously identifies areas where efficiency can be created by increasing the security level and lowering resource demand.
